DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to applicant's amendment received on March 23rd, 2009.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1 and 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Regarding the amendments to claim 1, it is unclear which portion of the contact nose is the "circular cylindrical bore," as the claim recites the bore as being at the upper portion of the contact nose and being uniform in cross section, yet it extends from an interior of the contact nose to an upper end surface transverse to a longitudinal axis. It is unclear how a portion of the contact nose (the bore) can extend from an interior of the contact nose. In addition, the only location where a part is extending from an interior of the contact nose is from the port 12. However, this portion is not a uniform cross section. Furthermore, it is unclear what part the "upper surface" is located on. For example, is the upper surface located on the contact nose or another part of the tool, such as the nose body?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 3-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP-A-2002-337066 (which corresponds to US Patent Number 6,578,750).

Claims 1 and 3-20 are rejected for the same reasons set forth in paragraph 3 of the previous office action mailed December 24th, 2008.

Regarding the amendments to claim 1, the designated circular cylindrical bore (reproduced below) has a longitudinal axis and a substantially uniform cross section that is transverse to the longitudinal axis. As is best understood, the circular cylindrical bore extends from an interior of the contact nose to an upper end surface that is transverse to the longitudinal axis (see designation below).

Regarding new claim 21, note that the nose body is slidable relative to the hollow member along an axis. The inner surface of the hollow member is substantially perpendicular to the axis as shown below.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed March 23rd, 2009 with respect to the amendments have been fully considered and are believed to have been addressed in the above rejection.

Applicant contends that the prior art's nose body is not circumferentially received in the hollow member. However, referring to the figure reproduced above, the nose body is circumferentially received in the hollow member. Note that the portion of the hollow member where the nose body is received has a circumference. In other words, that portion of the hollow member surrounds the nose body.

For the reasons above, the grounds of rejection are deemed proper.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
7. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
